CASTELLAN

OF 1958

ST. MARY'S SEMINARY JUNIOR COLLEGE
ST. MARY'S CITY, MARYLAND

NOTE TO THE STAFF:

To The Staff:
We the editors of this year's "CASTELLAN" would like to express appreciation to all the staff members who have worked so hard to make this yearbook a success. Only through your hard work and effort was it possible to produce this finished product. We look upon this yearbook as a cumulative success because we feel it has partially captured the spirit and life here at St. Mary's. To Miss Perkins, our annual advisor, we give our thanks for the advice and help she has given us. In conclusion, congratulations for a job well done and to the graduates success and best wishes.

STAFF

DEDICATION

To Mr. B. Sasser, who is well liked by all for his friendliness and willingness to devote his time unselfishly to the students and their projects.
To you, Mr. Sasser, we the graduating classes of 1958 proudly dedicate this yearbook.

Miss MAY RUSSELL — President
A.B., LL.D., Western Maryland College; M.A., Teachers College, Columbia University, Graduate study at Johns Hopkins University, University of Michigan, Harvard University.

In this building, the administrative office and dormitory rooms are housed. Miss May Russell's office is the nucleus of the campus, a room constantly filled with faculty members and students. Miss Russell holds individual conferences with the students throughout the year and generously shares her time with all who need her advice.

CO-OPS STUDENTS

To compete with the acute shortage of engineering personnel the Naval Air Test Center at Patuxent River offered a solution. The Test Center instituted a program known as the Patuxent Plan of Career Development which recruited qualified persons from the local area. These students, known to the campus as the classes of '60, '61, '62, are undergoing training which will develop them into competent engineers over a period of five years.

THE BIRTH

The Annual pageant "The Birth of Tolerance" is presented every year by the student body at St. Mary's. Every person in school contributes to the success of this venture, either thru the acting or by helping with props, make-up or some other backstage job. The Pageant was written by David Turnburk to commemorate the founding of the colony of Maryland and is presented continuously for three days, on six locations on our campus. The first scene takes place on Gallow's Green where an introductory speech is given. The visitors are then taken by a guide to the Music Hall where the scene is set in England.
Lord Arundel and the Calverts discuss the possibility of getting a grant of land from the King. The charter is granted to Leonard Calvert and the name "Terrae Maria" is decided upon for the colony.
The second scene in the Music Hall shows the settlers preparing to leave for the colony in the New World. The scene is then shifted to the hill overlooking the banks of the St. Mary's River. The settlers are shown after landing in the Ark and the Dove, encountering the Indians for the first time. A treaty is made with the Indians and Father Andrew White offers a blessing. Panorama and color are added thru the colorful Indian dancers. The next spot on the Pageant tour is the Calvert Memorial, erected to honor

OF TOLERANCE

Statehouse Scene

Curly Chakales . . . what are you giving Ned, Lyl? Name, address and phone number? . . . love those helmets! . . . Where's the crutch?

Road Scene

the family which did so much to establish the colony and to help it thru the troublesome beginning days. The statehouse scene is enacted next, in a replica of the original building. These scenes, the dramatic highlights of the pageant, show the Maryland Assembly meeting under Governor Calvert. After Calvert's death Governor Greene takes over the responsibilities of the colony and with the aid of Mistress Margaret Brent saves the settlers from invasion of savages. Mistress Margaret Brent demands the right to vote with the members of the Assembly and makes an impassioned appeal to the members. Her appeal is denied, Margaret Brent is not given a vote although she had done much toward the establishment of the colony.

The following scene shows Wenlock Christison after his flight from the New England colonies in search of religious freedom. He is welcomed by the friendly farmers and settlers of Maryland and is offered a home. The final scene shows an Assembly Meeting in which it is decided to move the capital of Maryland from St. Mary's City to Anne Arundel Town. The settlers left St. Mary's and the capital of our state has been Annapolis ever since. The Pageant performance ends with a rendition of "Maryland, My Maryland."

"GIRLS WILL BE GIRLS"

The Music Department, under the direction of Mr. Brantley Greeson, presented four performances of "Girls Will Be Girls." The cast consisted of members of the Glee Club and the light and gay operetta was a great success. CASTELLAN members were on the production staff and the yearbook received a share of the profit.

Carol Festival

The Candlelight Service is the highlight of the annual Carol Festival. The "Spirit of Christmas" lights the candles of the various choir members. The whole room is soon filled with light as the entire audience joins in singing.

One of the highest honors a girl at S.M.S.J.C. can attain is to be chosen as the Spirit of Christmas. The student so honored for 1957 was Doris Dickerson.

SIGNAL NEWS

The Staff

THE SIGNAL NEWS is the student newspaper, published six times during the school year by members of the student body. This paper contains items of interest to the students and alumni and presents a complete record of all campus activities. This year the staff made great strides in news coverage, and the size of the paper was increased.

CASTELLAN

Castellan Editors

The yearbook of St. Mary's, THE CASTELLAN, is published by the student body members every year. Through frequent meetings and long hours of hard work, the staff members saw this record of their school year emerge. Any chronicle of events is difficult to compile, however, this book is as full and complete as diligent work could make it.
